

DESCRIPTION

The Maggie Feiss Scholarship Fund was established by the family of Maggie Feiss in memory of their daughter and sister, Margaret "Maggie" Oliver Feiss, B.S., Public Policy, Management, and Planning, 2008. Maggie died shortly after graduation, the day before commencing her first post-graduation job.

While Maggie had lived with epilepsy from her early teens, she never let it slow her down, and her parents and brother established this scholarship to perpetuate and honor her name, energy and the infectious spirit with which she lived. The Maggie Feiss Scholar shall be a demonstrable risk taker, someone willing to challenge norms in the pursuit of solutions.

ELIGIBILITY

Must be a sophomore, junior, or senior undergraduate student

Demonstrate academic and career interests in the areas that meant the most to Maggie (below):

Safety and respect for LGBTQ youth, effective education of disenfranchised urban youth, sustainable energy use, and more.

HOW TO APPLY

The application is available in Scholarship Universe. Students must log in using their USC Net ID and password.

Questions? Contact John Mendoza, Assistant Director of Scholarships:

(213) 740-4127

jdmendoz@usc.edu