Frequently Asked Questions - FAQ

How many applicants are there and what is the acceptance rate?

The total number of applicants and the acceptance rate varies from term to term. Students who are accepted into the program typically have high GPA's (3.5 or above) and strong letters of recommendation.

When will I be notified if I have been accepted in to the progressive degree?

All applicants are notified of their admissions status via email, 6-8 weeks after the application deadline.

When can I register for graduate courses?

All admitted progressive degree students must meet with the MHA Program Administrator upon acceptance to develop an official course plan. Once this course plan has been created, all required signatures obtained, and the plan has been processed and approved by the University, the student will be eligible for fall semester graduate course registration. This process can take several weeks after acceptance. In the meantime, D-clearance may be obtained, reserving a seat in the fall semester MHA courses.

What is the suggested course load/maximum number of units each semester?

When not taking undergraduate courses, the average progressive degree student takes 12-14 units of graduate coursework per semester (fall and spring). Note: eight units is considered full-time for graduate students.

Can my units taken at another school be used to waive graduate coursework?

No. Any graduate course waivers must come from upper division, undergraduate courses taken at USC.

Does the Progressive MHA program have any prerequisites?

Yes. Progressive Master of Health Administration (MHA) students must complete a college-level statistics or econometrics course with a grade of B or better, prior to beginning in the fall.

Do I need to include MHA courses in the course plan?

No. MHA coursework will be discussed and outlined in the course plan once the student is admitted into the MHA Progressive program. The course plan should only include undergraduate courses.

Do I need to obtain all signatures (e.g., dean and chairs) before I submit the application?

No. Once the student is accepted and a course plan with MHA courses is finalized, then signatures from each department will be obtained.

How can I submit the letters of recommendation?

Applicants may have faculty members email their letters of recommendation directly to the Program Administrator, Jennifer Kim: kim812@price.usc.edu with the subject heading: "Letter of Recommendation for (Student Name)". Letters must be submitted by the February 1st deadline.

USC Progressive Degree Program

Program Eligibility and Application Instructions

A Progressive Degree is a highly individualized program that allows a student to begin work on a master's degree while completing the requirements for the bachelor's degree. Applications for Progressive Degree require approvals from both the undergraduate and graduate programs.

Program Eligibility

- Applicants to the progressive degree program may apply once they have at least 64 total units of undergraduate course work completed, excluding AP, IB, or transfer units earned prior to graduation from high school.
- Applicants may apply in their junior or senior year, but no later than the semester prior to beginning graduate work.
- Applicants do not need to submit GRE, GMAT or other graduate entrance exam scores but should have at least a 3.0 cumulative USC GPA at the time of application. Please note that some academic programs have higher GPA requirements.

Application Requirements

- Students must complete all necessary sections on the Application for Admission to a Progressive Master's Program form. Admission requires approval from the program/department chair and the dean of the student's undergraduate major, and by the program/department chair and the dean of the master's degree program at USC. The completed application form must show all signatures required for approval.
- Students must complete a Progressive Degree Program Proposed Course Plan form as part of the application process. This is necessary to determine how future terms of registration apply to remaining undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. Course work taken to fulfill degree requirements will show on the Course Plan, as will an indication of whether the course work fulfills undergraduate or graduate degree requirements.
- Students may be required to submit letters of recommendation and other supplemental materials at the discretion of the academic program.

Instructions to Students and Departments:

1. Program Selection

Students identify a master's degree that is of interest and consult with the Graduate Advisor or Admissions Officer of the program to determine the availability of the Progressive Degree option. The department or school that offers the master's program determines whether to offer the Progressive Degree option.

The master's program need not be from the same department as the student's undergraduate major, but typically the two programs are at least loosely related. Students may also pursue a master's program based on an associated minor program at the undergraduate level.

2. Proposed Course Plan

The Progressive Degree Program application requires a Proposed Course Plan that incorporates all of the remaining requirements for the student's undergraduate major(s) and minor(s), and the intended master's program. The Proposed Course Plan should be constructed in consultation with advisors for both the undergraduate and graduate programs. The course plan must include all remaining undergraduate course requirements and at least two-thirds of the graduate program requirements. All coursework for the undergraduate program(s) must be completed.

3. Letters of Recommendation
Students may be required to submit letters of recommendation and other supplemental materials at the discretion of the academic program.
4. Undergraduate Approvals
The Application for Admission to Progressive Master's Program form and the Proposed Course Plan form each require signed approval from:
 - a. The student's current undergraduate department chair
 - b. The student's current undergraduate program dean
5. Graduate Approvals
The Application for Admission to Progressive Master's Program form and the Proposed Course Plan form each require signed approval from:
 - a. The student's proposed master's program department chair
 - b. The student's proposed master's program dean
6. Application Submission
Students should submit their complete application to the office of the master's program in which they hope to enroll. If final approval is granted by the master's program, the graduate program department will submit a copy of the approved Application for Admission and Proposed Course Plan to Degree Progress for final review, entry of the master's degree Program of Study on the student's record, and designation as a Progressive Master's student.

If the graduate program department does not admit the student to the requested program, the department will communicate the decision to the student and retain the application for record keeping. Denied applications should not be forwarded to Degree Progress.
7. Recorded on USC Record (if admitted)
The Master's department should forward the approved Application for Admission and Proposed Course Plan to: degreeprogress@usc.edu
Degree Progress will retain a copy of the Proposed Course Plan and the Application for Admission through graduation, and the student's master's program should retain the original application in the student's file.
8. Course Plan Changes
If the student's course plan needs to be changed at any point during the Progressive Degree Program, an updated Proposed Course Plan must be submitted to Degree Progress with all appropriate signatures. Updates to the STARS report cannot be completed without an approved revised course plan.

Program Requirements

1. Progressive degree program students must fulfill all specified degree requirements for both the bachelor's degree and the master's degree with a minimum two-thirds of the units required for the master's degree at or above the 500 level.
2. Progressive degree students are classified as undergraduate students, until they attain one of the following conditions, whichever comes first:
 - a. up to and including the semester they complete 144 units *(see top of next page);
 - b. their first bachelor's degree is conferred; or
 - c. they receive a research or teaching assistant award.

*Transfer units, including AP and IB units, and all units completed at USC, including both undergraduate- and graduate-level coursework during any semester, count toward the 144-unit limit. If applicants transferred pre-matriculation units, including AP or IB units, they should request a Progressive Degree Status Check to determine how many undergraduate units remain before they transition to graduate status. In rare cases, transfer course work that does not count toward subject requirements, electives or the bachelor degree program's minimum unit requirement may increase the 144-unit threshold. Again, upon completing 144 units a student transitions from undergraduate to graduate status.

3. Progressive degree program students are subject to undergraduate academic progress standards while in undergraduate status and to the master's academic progress standards while in graduate status.
4. While classified as undergraduates, students are assessed the undergraduate tuition rate, and their enrollment status and financial aid eligibility are determined by undergraduate standards. Undergraduate-level progressive degree students maintain their eligibility for Federal Pell Grants, Federal SEOG Grants, Cal Grants, Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans, Direct Parent PLUS Loans, and any applicable eligibility for USC Merit Scholarships or USC University Grants, as long as they are enrolled in courses that are required for, or that can be applied as an eligible elective credit toward, their undergraduate degree. The Registrar's Office determines when a student has completed their undergraduate degree and manages the process of posting degrees to a student's record. The Financial Aid Office relies on the Registrar's determination of the applicability of a course to a degree program and the completion of the bachelor's degree.
5. While classified as graduate students, progressive degree students are assessed the graduate tuition rate, and their enrollment status and financial aid eligibility are determined by graduate standards. Graduate students are not eligible for federal, state, or university need-based grants. Graduate-level progressive degree students are eligible to borrow Direct Unsubsidized Loans and Direct Graduate PLUS Loans, up to the maximum yearly amounts established for graduate students.
6. The bachelor's degree may be awarded separately, but the master's degree will not be awarded before the undergraduate degree.
7. The time limit for completing a progressive degree program is 12 semesters (6 years) beginning from the first term of college enrollment. Transfer students whose transfer coursework extends beyond this timeline may have their coursework evaluated for semester-equivalency by the admitting master's program. The admitting program will determine a completion term as part of the application process and list this term on the proposed course plan.
8. Students may complete only one master's degree as part of the progressive degree program.
